

AWAYS

PREMIUM PERSONAL STYLE REPORT

Soft Wave

A curved frame with soft, feminine volume. Your personalized style guide.

SOFT WAVE

Curves & softness in perfect harmony

What's inside

A complete style playbook in 6 chapters. You don't have to read it cover-to-cover. Pick the chapter you need today, and come back for the rest as you go.

01	Understanding your body type Your 3 Soft Wave signatures · diagnostic score breakdown	P. 04
02	Silhouette & fit secrets Golden formula · what flatters · what to avoid	P. 06
03	The right fabrics & colors 7 fabrics for you · pattern guide · base color palette	P. 08
04	5 everyday outfit formulas Office · meeting · business casual · presentation · weekend	P. 10
05	Essential shopping checklist 12 must-have items · brand recommendations · price tiers	P. 13
06	Year-round styling + Q&A Seasonal essentials · clearing up common myths	P. 15

01

CHAPTER ONE

Understanding your body

Dressing well starts with knowing your body — not what's on trend.

Before asking what suits you, you need to understand how your frame is actually shaped. This chapter unpacks the three core characteristics of the Soft Wave body type in detail.

CHAPTER 01 · BODY UNDERSTANDING

You are Soft Wave

Soft Wave is the body type where femininity flows most naturally. Curves and soft volume blend together gracefully, with a defined waist and gently rounded shoulders as your standout features. Whatever you wear, there's an inherently soft impression — and that's your superpower.

"Curves want to be celebrated, not hidden. The moment your waist is defined, your most flattering silhouette emerges."

— YOUR STYLE DIAGNOSIS

01 The 3 signatures of your body type

01 A defined waistline

The clear difference between your waist and hips is your most distinctive feature. Your waist sits naturally smaller than average, creating an effortless hourglass impression. Pieces that celebrate this contrast — wrap details, belts, peplums — become your magic. Pieces that hide it tend to make your frame look heavier than it is.

02 Softly sloped shoulders

Your shoulders slope gently rather than sitting square, which is what gives you that soft, graceful presence. Heavy shoulder pads and rigid blazers fight this line and make your upper body look weighed down. Puff sleeves, round necklines, and soft collars sing with your natural shoulder shape.

03 Lower-body volume

Hips and thighs naturally carry soft volume — and trying to hide it with loose, tent-like clothing usually backfires. The trick is to let it flow with A-line and flared silhouettes, where the volume becomes part of the elegance rather than something to disguise. This is exactly why straight, narrow cuts rarely feel right on you.

Your diagnostic score

DIRECTION

Wave

TEXTURE

Soft

Your result is the synthesis of 15 questions analyzed together. Each answer carries a weighted score across body direction (Straight / Wave / Natural) and texture (Hard / Soft). Your final type is the highest-scoring match.

SOFT WAVE IN NUMBERS

Soft Wave is one of the most common body types among women globally — which is good news for shopping (lots of options), but also means there are very specific things to avoid. Knowing what doesn't work matters as much as knowing what does.

02 Why this result

Your responses showed strong Wave direction for three reasons. First, you reported a clear difference between waist and hip measurements. Second, you almost always need a belt with pants. Third, in group photos, your curves stand out. These three signals are the clearest indicators of a Wave body type.

Your Soft texture result came from answers about wrist size, upper-arm softness, and collarbone visibility — your body reads as flesh first, frame second. Combined with the Wave direction, this gives you the Soft Wave classification.

03 How you differ from other types

Aspect	Soft Wave (you)	Hard Wave	Soft Straight
Core feature	Curves + soft volume	Curves + firm structure	Linear + soft volume
Best fits	A-line, wrap silhouettes	Fitted + structured	Straight, slightly boxy
What to avoid	Boxy fits, straight H-line cuts	Drapey, fluid fabrics	Tight, body-hugging fits
Style keyword	Feminine	Sharp	Polished

Soft Wave is often described as the most naturally feminine body type. The key to working with it isn't adding more — it's not hiding what you already have. The next chapter dives into the exact silhouettes and fits that will let your shape do the work.

02

CHAPTER TWO

The golden ratio of fit

Dressing well, in the end, is about understanding fit. The same garment can read completely differently depending on how it sits on you. This chapter shows you which silhouettes drape most beautifully on a Soft Wave frame — and which ones you should walk past in the store.

CHAPTER 02 · SILHOUETTE & FIT

The secret to a flattering silhouette

01 Your golden formula

"Define the waist + flow with the hips."

— YOUR FIT FORMULA

The single most flattering formula for Soft Wave is fitted top + flared bottom + a defined waistline. The defined waist anchors your hourglass, while the flowing bottom lets your hip volume become elegance instead of bulk. This is the silhouette designers have been making for centuries — because it works.

YES

Wrap top + A-line skirt — soft, fitted, with movement

YES

Belted dress with skirt that flares from the waist

WHY THIS WORKS

When the bottom flows out from a defined waist, your hip and thigh volume reads as part of the curve rather than something to fix. The eye follows the line and registers proportion, not weight. This is why wrap dresses look effortless on Soft Wave bodies even on no-makeup, no-effort days.

02 Fits that flatter you

These silhouettes work with your frame, not against it. When in doubt at the store, default to one of these.

WRAP DRESS

Tied waist creates the hourglass automatically

A-LINE SKIRT

Flares softly from the waist down

PEPLUM TOP

Adds a feminine flare exactly at the waist

FIT-AND-FLARE DRESS

Fitted bodice, full skirt — your classic

03 Fits to avoid

These fits flatten or hide what makes you you. Most styling regrets come from one of these.

OVERSIZED BOXY TEE

Hides the waist — makes you look larger

STRAIGHT COLUMN DRESS

Fights your natural curves

DROP-WAIST SILHOUETTE

Lowers the waistline — kills proportion

HEAVY STRUCTURED BLAZER

Adds weight to your soft shoulder line

03

CHAPTER THREE

Fabrics & colors

made for you

The same design in a different fabric can fit completely differently. Soft Wave bodies look best in fluid, soft, drape-friendly fabrics. Stiff, architectural fabrics fight your soft frame and make pieces look forced rather than effortless.

CHAPTER 03 · FABRIC & COLOR

The right fabrics

Soft Wave looks most at home in fabrics that flow and follow your shape. Stiff cottons and structured wools resist your curves. Drapey fabrics melt onto them.

SILK

Drapes effortlessly along curves. Worth investing in one good piece.

MODAL & RAYON

Soft, flowing alternatives to silk at a friendlier price.

SOFT JERSEY

Wraps the body without clinging. Ideal for everyday wear.

CASHMERE

The softness mirrors your frame. Beautiful in winter.

CREPE

Has body but moves with you — perfect for dresses and blouses.

LIGHTWEIGHT WOOL

Soft suiting wool, not stiff. Look for blends with viscose.

FABRICS TO SKIP

Stiff cotton (oxford shirts), heavy denim, and structured wool tend to create a wall instead of a shape on your body. They look fine on the hanger and disappointing in the mirror. If a fabric feels rigid in your hand, it'll feel rigid on your body.

Your color palette

Soft, warm tones complement your softness. Your natural palette skews toward romantic, slightly muted rather than bold or saturated.

02 How to use these colors

Build outfits around cream, camel, and dusty rose as your everyday base. They match your softness and read elegant rather than bold.

Use soft navy and burgundy for grown-up versatility — they work for both office and weekend, and pair beautifully with your base colors.

Save sharp neutrals like pure black and stark white for accents. Wearing them head-to-toe can feel harsher than your face's natural softness. A cream blouse + soft navy trouser will look more like 'you' than black + white.

COLORS THAT FIGHT YOUR SOFTNESS

Pure black, neon, and very high-contrast color combinations can overpower your soft features. If you love black, soften it with cream, dusty rose, or camel — never with stark white.

04

CHAPTER FOUR

5 outfit formulas

Theory is one thing — knowing what to wear on a Tuesday morning is another. Five complete formulas, ready to wear, designed specifically for Soft Wave bodies. Steal them, mix them, build from them.

CHAPTER 04 · OUTFIT FORMULAS

5 outfit formulas

MEETINGS · FORMAL MOMENTS

FORMULA 01

The polished meeting look

"When you need to look composed and feminine at once"

Wrap blouse + high-waist trouser + low heel

Why this works: The wrap blouse's tie at the waist creates that defined hourglass automatically — no styling effort needed. High-waisted trousers cropped at the ankle elongate the leg. A low heel (about 2 inches) lands you in the sweet spot between professional and elegant.

💡 PRO TIP

Wear a basic cami underneath the wrap blouse so you don't have to worry about gaps between buttons or the tie loosening through the day. Cream or white camis work under almost everything.

OFFICE · LUNCH DATES

FORMULA 02

Casual workday look

"Comfortable but put-together for everyday office days"

Fitted knit + A-line midi skirt + loafer

Why this works: A fitted knit defines the upper body, an A-line skirt softens the hips with movement — this is the daily uniform that always works. The loafer keeps it grounded between formal and casual, perfect for a workday with a lunch out.

💡 PRO TIP

Choose a knit with 3/4 sleeves — exposing the wrist (your slimmest point) draws the eye. The skirt should hit somewhere between the knee and mid-calf for the most universally flattering proportion.

BUSINESS CASUAL

FORMULA 03

Smart business casual

"For client meetings on a regular Wednesday"

Soft blazer + shirt dress + heel

Why this works: Skip the structured blazer — go for one with soft, slightly rounded shoulders. The shirt dress's belt naturally cinches your waist, and unbuttoning the blazer creates a long vertical line. The whole look reads polished without trying too hard.

 PRO TIP

Leave the blazer unbuttoned — it lengthens the line and makes the silhouette slimmer. One delicate gold piece (necklace or earrings, not both) finishes it perfectly.

PRESENTATIONS · BIG MOMENTS

FORMULA 04

The confident presence

"When you need to be remembered in the room"

Peplum top + pencil skirt + mid-heel pump

Why this works: The peplum flares gently from your waist, celebrating the curve, while the pencil skirt keeps the lower half clean. This is the silhouette that gets you taken seriously and remembered — in that order.

 PRO TIP

Choose a subtle peplum, not a dramatic ruffle. Over-the-top peplums add visual weight to the hip. Knee-length pencil skirts are the safest, most flattering length.

FRIDAY · CASUAL DAY

FORMULA 05

Friday off-duty look*"Relaxed but still feeling like yourself"Silk cami + open cardigan + high-waist wide-leg jean

Why this works: An opaque silk cami defines your upper body without clinging. An open cardigan creates a long vertical line through the middle. Wide-leg jeans drape over your hip volume and let it flow — exactly what your body wants to do anyway.

💡 PRO TIP

Wide-leg jeans should just barely cover your shoes — that hem-shoe ratio gives you the longest leg line. A cardigan that hits at the ankle creates the most elongating silhouette.

06 Accessories that workNECKLACE

Delicate chain

BAG

Medium hobo bag

SHOES

Mid-heel pump

— Necklaces

Delicate, shorter chains land best on you. They graze the collarbone area and add softness without weight. Long, heavy chains drag the eye downward and make the upper body look bottom-heavy. If you wear a pendant, keep it small and refined.

— Bags

Medium-sized bags with soft, rounded silhouettes harmonize with your frame. Hobos, soft totes, and medium crossbodies all work. Oversized totes can make you look smaller than you are; tiny micro-bags can throw your proportions off. Aim for a bag that's about the size of your torso — the same proportion rule actresses use on red carpets.

— Shoes

A mid-heel (2–3 inches) is your sweet spot — feminine without being precarious. Your ankles naturally taper, so strappy sandals and ankle-strap heels work beautifully. Avoid chunky 'ugly' sneakers and very thick-soled shoes; they'll shorten your leg line. Loafers, pumps, and Mary Janes are all your friends.

05

CHAPTER FIVE

Essential shopping list

12 pieces that should anchor your wardrobe — plus where to actually buy them. You don't need to replace everything. Use this as a checklist against your current closet and fill the gaps over time, not in one weekend.

CHAPTER 05 · SHOPPING CHECKLIST

Tops & bottoms

These four tops do most of the heavy lifting for any outfit. Get them right and most of your wardrobe falls into place.

01 Tops

ITEM	RECOMMENDED FIT & DETAIL	WHERE TO SHOP
Wrap blouse Tie at the waist, V-neck	Soft silk or modal / V-neck with self-tie / no front buttons	COS & Other Stories Reformation
Fitted knit (3/4 sleeve) Body-skimming, not tight	Merino or cashmere blend / cropped wrist or 3/4 / round neck or scoop	Everlane Madewell Uniqlo
Silk cami Opaque, not see-through	True silk or silk-blend / V or scoop neckline / adjustable straps	Quince Reformation Madewell
Soft button-down Drapey fabric, not stiff	Tencel, viscose, or silk-blend / slim through the body / slight stretch	COS Mango Aritzia

02 Bottoms

ITEM	RECOMMENDED FIT & DETAIL	WHERE TO SHOP
High-waist trouser Cropped, slight flare or straight	Waist sits at navel / cropped at ankle / soft wool blend	COS Zara & Other Stories
A-line midi skirt Below-knee length	Flares from waist / hits between knee and calf / soft fabric	Sezane Reformation Mango
High-waist wide-leg jean Soft denim, not rigid	Defined waist / falls straight from hip / hem brushes shoes	Levi's Madewell AGOLDE
Pencil skirt For meetings & presentations	Knee length / waist-defined cut / has stretch	Banana Republic J.Crew Zara

Outerwear & dresses

Outerwear is what you're seen in for half the year. These four pieces do the work for any season.

ITEM	RECOMMENDED FIT & DETAIL	WHERE TO SHOP
Soft blazer No shoulder pads, soft line	Slightly nipped waist / soft wool blend / 1–2 buttons	COSMangoAritzia
Belted trench coat Defined waist via belt	Above- or below-knee / soft beige or camel / cinch the belt	BurberryMangoUniqlo
Wrap dress Versatile across occasions	True wrap with tie / above- or mid-knee / V-neck	DVFReformationSezane
Shirt dress Belted detail essential	Belt at waist / mid-length / soft cotton or silk-blend	COS& Other StoriesMadewell

HOW TO PRIORITIZE WHEN BUDGET IS LIMITED

If you're starting from scratch, build in this order: (1) wrap dress, (2) high-waist trouser, (3) soft blazer. These three pieces alone will get you through 80% of your week. Add fitted knit and A-line skirt next. Save belted trench and pencil skirt for last — they're amazing but more situational. Don't buy everything at once; let your wardrobe build over a season or two.

06

CHAPTER SIX

Year-round & common questions

Stay consistent through every season, and clear up the most common Soft Wave styling myths in one place. After this chapter, you won't second-guess yourself in front of the mirror anymore.

CHAPTER 06 · SEASONS & FAQ

Year-round style guide

SPRING

KEY ITEMS

Pastel wrap blouse, trench coat, lightweight cardigan

STYLE TIP

Throw a light cardigan over your shoulders or wear it open — it creates a long vertical line. Cropped 9th-length trousers showing the ankle keep the look airy.

COLORS

Soft pink, light beige, mint, lavender

SUMMER

KEY ITEMS

Wrap dress, A-line midi, silk cami + shorts

STYLE TIP

Lean into wrap silhouettes and breathable fabrics. Avoid tight body-con dresses — even on hot days, they fight your soft volume more than they flatter it.

COLORS

Cream, dusty rose, sage, soft coral

AUTUMN

KEY ITEMS

Soft blazer, fitted knit, midi skirt

STYLE TIP

Layer a fitted knit under the soft blazer with a midi skirt — the most universally flattering autumn formula for your body. Knee-high boots in soft leather complete it.

COLORS

Camel, burgundy, soft navy, rust

WINTER

KEY ITEMS

Belted wool coat, cashmere knit, ankle boots

STYLE TIP

Always belt your winter coat to keep your waistline visible. Thick puffers that erase your shape are the #1 winter styling regret for Soft Wave bodies. Choose a coat with a clear belt or sash.

COLORS

Deep navy, burgundy, cream, charcoal

TRANSITIONING BETWEEN SEASONS

Between-season transitions are all about layering smartly. Use the 3-layer rule: thin base + soft middle + light outer. A silk cami + cardigan + trench is more flattering and more practical than a single bulky piece.

Clearing up common myths

Q I want to look slimmer — should I wear loose, oversized clothes?

A This is the #1 mistake for Soft Wave bodies. Loose, oversized clothing actually makes you look larger because it hides your defined waist — your slimmest point. The waist is your visual proof of being smaller than the surrounding volume. Keep the waist visible with a belt, wrap, or fitted top, and let the rest flow.

Q Aren't body-con dresses supposed to be flattering for curves?

A Body-con isn't your friend, even though Hollywood will tell you it is. Soft Wave is curves with soft volume — body-con highlights every line and feels constricting rather than celebratory. Wrap and fit-and-flare dresses give you that hourglass without the discomfort or self-consciousness.

Q Can I wear oversized blazers? Everyone seems to wear them.

A Proceed with caution. Oversized boxy blazers fight everything Soft Wave is good at. If you love the look, find a soft, mildly oversized blazer with defined shoulders that aren't padded, and always add a belt or pair it with a fitted bottom. A column of oversized clothing top to bottom will not work on your frame.

Q Are wide-leg pants okay? They feel boxy.

A Yes — but only with a fitted top. Wide-leg pants drape over your hip and thigh volume beautifully, but only if your upper half is defined. Fitted top + high waist + wide leg = signature Soft Wave look. Wide top + wide leg = you'll look swallowed by your clothing.

Q I gain weight easily — how should I dress when I do?

A The same way, just better. Don't switch to oversized when you gain — that always makes things worse for Soft Wave bodies. Wrap dresses, A-line skirts, defined-waist pieces in soft fabrics still work — and the soft fabric forgives where stiff fabric wouldn't. Stay in your colors, just go slightly darker (burgundy, deep navy) for a slimming illusion.

Q I want to look more powerful at work, not 'feminine' — what do I do?

A Power doesn't have to mean masculine tailoring. Try structured fabrics in your shapes — a crepe wrap dress in deep navy, a soft blazer in charcoal over a silk shirt, a pencil skirt with a fitted knit. You can absolutely command a room while honoring your body's natural lines. Sharpness comes from confidence and color, not from rigid blazers that fight your shoulders.

FINAL WORDS

Your style is already perfect.

This report is a guide, not a rulebook. Start with the recommended pieces, get comfortable, then make it your own. Two people with the same body type can dress completely differently — and both can look amazing.

The one question that matters: "Does this piece celebrate my defined waist and natural curves?" Ask yourself this in front of any mirror, and you'll never feel lost in a fitting room again.

Your closet self-audit

Open your closet and check off the 12 items below. The number you check tells you where you are.

— — Tops (4)

- ☐ I have at least 2 wrap blouses (cream + one color)
- ☐ I have a fitted knit (cream, navy, or camel)
- ☐ I have an opaque silk cami
- ☐ I have a soft, drapey button-down (not stiff oxford)

— — Bottoms & dresses (4)

- ☐ I have a high-waist trouser (black or navy)
- ☐ I have an A-line midi skirt
- ☐ I have a high-waist wide-leg jean
- ☐ I have a pencil skirt (knee length)

— — Outerwear & accessories (4)

- ☐ I have a soft blazer (no shoulder pads)
- ☐ I have a belted trench or wrap dress
- ☐ I have a mid-heel pump or loafer
- ☐ I have a medium hobo or soft tote bag

WHAT YOUR SCORE MEANS

10–12 checked · You're a closet master. Just refine your styling ✨

6–9 checked · Strong foundation. Add 1–2 missing pieces at a time.

3–5 checked · Just getting started. Follow the priority guide on P. 17.

0–2 checked · A fresh-start opportunity. Go slow — don't buy everything at once.

FOR YOU

Style is a journey, not a destination.

You start with a guide,
and over time, you find your own way.

We hope this report makes your first step a little easier.

Questions? awaysbiz@gmail.com

© 2026 AWAYS · PREMIUM STYLE REPORT
SOFT WAVE · GENERATED FOR YOU